Conductor Zeigler was in charge of the train. Neither Engineer Hardiner or his fireman were hart. The train was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour. The excursionists were returned by another route. Many of them refused to board the cars again and were driven back to this city by farmers.

Edward Rogers, who was killed instantly, was at one time a professional ball player of the Toronto., Ont., team. Ten or twelve were fatally injured, but their names could not be learned owing to the reticence of the hospital employes. Every ambulance in the city was called, and met the special train The Proprietor of a Dye Works Badiy that went out for the injured. Forty were badly hurt.

IN THE HAT STORE.

Corroborative Evidence ln the Elliott Murder Trial.

Columbus, O., June 22.—Testimony in the Elliott murder trial Saturday had to do mainly with what occurred in the hat store when Osborn received the fatal shot. McDonald, proprietor of the store, testified to shot marks indicating that P. J. Elliott fired at Osborn as he entered the door.

This corroborates many witnesses, who said that P. J. Elliott pursued Osborn into the store, and breaks down the defense's theory that P. J. Elliott thought he was fatally wounded and was seeking a refuge.

James Peoples, the ball player, who was in the store at the time. and Clerk Sylvester corroborated this, but they fled, and while they heard the shot, they did not see it fired did not see it fired.

did not see it fired.

All agreed that Osborn came in the store dazed and staggered around from weakness with Elhott's shot in his neck, and it seems well proved that he fell to the floor, where P. J. Elliott dispatched him with a shot through the heart.

PENSION FRAUDS.

A Woman Draws Her Pension for Sixteen Years After Remarrying.

COLUMBUS, O., June 22. - United States Marshal Hysell has arrested Jacob Longpension frauds in the history of Ohio. Longenbaugh is a prominent and wealthy citizen of Ashville, Pickaway county. Sixteen years ago he married Mrs. Isabella Arebangh, who was at that time on the pension rolls as widow of a dead soldier and since the marriage under the pension laws the widow must furnish the department a certificate each three months, stating that she has not been remarried.

For sixteen years Logenbaugh has been making out this certificate for his wife, and she has regularly drawn her pension. Logenbaugh was himself a instice of the peace, and in his official capacity he could certify to papers made out in his wife's former name. The prominence of the parties and the extent of the fraud makes the affnir highly sensational.

M'DONALD IS DEAD.

Another Ex-Senator Called to His Long Home.

HIS DEATH A PEACEFUL ONE.

He Purtly Arranges His Own Funeral Which Will Take Place in Indianapolis on Wednesday Afternoon-Last Hours of His Eventful Life.

18DIANAPOLIS, June 22.—Ex-Senator McDonald diel last night at 11:45, apparently without pain and after having lain in a semi-conscious condition for three hours preceding his demise. Early yesterday morning he became convinced that the end was near, and calling Mrs. McDonald to his bedside he gave a few simple directions regarding his funeral.

Dr. Rumels came in at that moment and the patient told him that he did not feel as well as on the previous day and that he had made up his mind that it was not worth while to make further effort to save him. He said that he was conscious of the fact that everything possible had been done for him, but it was equally clear that all remedies had failed and that he was gradually sinking under his disease.

The physician then gave him a candid statement of his condition, saying that It was impossible to relieve him, and that he had determined not to give him any more medicine or food, as his stomach was too weak, and the vomit-ing that invariably resulted only re-duced his strength. An examination showed that the patient was even in a worse condition than had been supposed, as his vomiting clearly indicated that the stomach was throwing off puss and blood, the first evidence of the kind that had been noticed and a symptom that indicated that the end was near.

He then asked that the pastor and the elders be sent for, that he might partake of the sacrament before he died. Rev. Haines, of the First Presbyterian church, and the elders of the Second church, and the elders of the Second church were summoned and the sacrament was administered, Mr. McDonald receiving it while sitting up in bed. Immediately after taking the sacrament he fell into a semi-comatose state, from which he was aroused but once or twice during the evening.

At 3 o'clock Dr. Runnells called and found him apparently sleeping, but found him apparently sleeping, but when aroused he failed to recognize him. The family was notified that death might occur at any moment, and Mrs. McDonald, Malcomb, his son; J. B. Caldwell, his son-in-law, and W. D. Keer, a half brother, gathered around the bed. Soverel attempts were made to the bed. Several attempts were made to rouse him, but his attention could be held only for a moment and nothing could be elicited from him but yes or no in answer to questions.

At 3 o'clock his breathing became irregular, the respirations becoming fur-ther and further apart until life was extinct, his death being so peaceful that it relatives could realize that the end had indeed come. Though prepared for the event by the knowledge for several days that his illness must terminate fatally, Mrs. McDonald is greatly prostrated over her loss. The funeral has been fixed for 8 o'clock Wednesday, but beyond this no arrangements have been perfected. Telegrams are being sent to all parts of the Union notifying friends of his death and the date of the funeral.

entire country six months ago, On the morning of Nov. 17, 1890, the body of a man dressed in ordinary garb was found in a back alley in a remote section of the city of Fostoria. A bullet wound was found in his right temple. For more than a week the coroner vainly endeavored to fix upon his identity.

Photographs of the bedy were taken, and copies of these appeared in papers throughout the country. Finally, Nov. 25 there appeared before the coroner. at Fostoria, a young, slender, but wiry and rather handsome fellow, an entire stranger, who positively identified the corpse as that of William Campean, a friend of his, whose home was in Monroe, Mich., and from whom he had parted at Marion, O., on the morning of the day of his murder. The identification was complete, but upon close questioning, the witness began to manifest a nervousness that created suspicion.

Finally he asked permission to retire to the rear yard, whence he was accomto the rear yard, whence he was accompanied by an officer. No sooner had the witness passed out the door than he vanited over the back fence and was gone. It developed during his uncompleted examination that he had a wife temporarily sojourning at Prospect. Marion county, and she was sent for and chard mean the stand placed upon the stand.

The girl, who is now known to fame as Della Bird, proved an unwilling but good witness, and from her it was learned that the man who had so neatly slipped through the fingers of the offi-cers was the noted Indiana and Ohio horse thief and all-around desperado, Marvin Kuhns, and almost beyond a doubt the murderer of William Campean.

The girl was not his wife, but his mistress. She has since been held in the Tiffin jail as a witness.

When Kuhns left Fostoria he went to Fort Wayne, Ind. Here he was recognized and a posse of officers started in pursuit. and a posse of officers started in pursuit. A portion of the posse, composed of Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson, of Allen county, and Officer Kennelly, of the Fort Wayne police force, overtook him near the village of Cherubusco.

Kuhus had as his companion one Wesse, who has since hear sent to the Weese, who has since been sent to the penitentiary for his participation in the ensuing affray.

Immediately upon the summons to surrender, Kuhns and his companion opened fire, and a lesperate duel elsued. Kuhns was shot no less than seven times, at least three of the wounds being deemed necessarily fatal.

Kuhn's companion was shot in the knee and Officer Kennedy was desperately, and for a long time thought to be fatally, wounded. Notwithstanding Knhn's terrible wounds he again eswas some moments before his assembled caped, but was captured a few hours afterward at a farm house in the neighborhood and taken to the Fort Wayne jail, where he remained for several weeks, thought to be hovering between life and death. To the surprise of every one but himself he recovered, and in January was brought to the jail in this city, where he hassince remained awaiting trial for the murder of Campeau. whom the evidence shows to have been of a Mysterious Deuth. Indianapolis, June 22.—The finding of copper in the stomach of Mrs. Nancy Wright, and the numerous rumors afloat regarding the death of other members of her family, have determined Coroner Manker to enter into a thorough investigation, and the first steps will be taken today when the body of Mrs. Taylor will be exhumed and the contents of her stomach analyzed.

It is no longer a secret that Mrs. John Dorsey, a daughter of Mrs. Taylor, and a sister of Mrs. Wright, is suspected of the unatural crime of murdering both of the women, and though the police will make no arrests till the result in Mrs. Taylor's case is known, Mrs. Dorsey is under surveillance and will not be allowed to leave the city. She is now living with her tifth husband, and it is claimed that each of the four whom she survives died from symptoms similar to those in the case of Mrs. Wright and

Mrs. Taylor. The lives of her husbands and of her mother and sister were insured, and if the coroner's suspicions—should prove to be well founded,—the insurance money was the incentive to the crime. Mrs. Wright left one child, and Mrs. Dorsey asked to be appointed guardian, but the coroner interfered and the appointment was not made. He told Mrs. Dorsey plainly that she was suspected of killing her sister, but the only reply that she made was that her conscience was clear.

Crushed in a Saud Bank.

ERIE, Pa., June 22.-Saturday afternoon Richard Andrews, aged 9 years, was crushed to death, and Eugene Coleman, aged 7 years, probably fatally injured by the cave-in of a sand bank in which they were playing on West Eleventh street. A miraculous escape from another fatality of the same nature occurred on State street during the morning. A sand bank caved in on a number of workmen who were engaged in excavating a site for a large block. All escuded except Joseph Schwartz, a stonemason, who was rescued in four feet of sand. He was almost crushed to death, but when taken out no bones were found broken, and he will live.

Statement From Senator Blackburn.

Senator Blackburn was Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions in the late Democratic State convention, and General Basil Duke was a member of thut committee. Friday he was at Lexington and presided over the meeting of the friends of the new Constitution. The following statement coming from him is published in the Lexington Leader:

"During the time of the meeting General Duke would leave his sent frequently to confer with others at the door of the committee room

"I was asked several times if I didu't think it would be well to leave the new Constitution out of the platform and not make it a party issue. I said that on these grounds I had no objections to lenving it out If it would not be construed as a repudiation of the new Constitution, and with that understanding I voted that it should not be in the platform as a party issue.

"As soon as the resolutious were known good many papers came out with the statement that the Democratic party had repudiateft the new Constitution in its convention, and capital was made out of It by the autis.

"I notice those who were strongest in urging that the Constitution should be left out of the party platform during the convention are still the strongest in opposing its adoption"

Sunday Closing.

The move for a better observance of Sunday is gaining strength.

Most all the dealers in cigars and tobacco closed their places of business yesterday and there was but one clothing store open and that only for a short time. The barber shops have been closed several Sundays now in succession.

A monument, to the memory of the late John T. Wilson, arrived here last week, and was hauled from the depot by Alexander Duke, by eight horses. One of the stones weighed twenty-two thousand pounds. It will be put up this week. Mrs. Anna Wilson and Mlss Mamle Scott came up from Maysville Friday evening to view the monument she is having erected to the memory of her husband. We learn she was well pleased with it and gave her check for three thousand dollars. "J. B. fl.," of besha Valley, will be on hand at the monument-raising and in a short time we will get at the particulars.

Fancies of Fashion.

Black and gold is a favorite combination for small bonnets.

It is quite the style to have the jacket, lut and veil all of a color.

Napoleon blue, a grayish tint of blue, is one of the colors of the season. Yellow is the color note of millinery, and yellow with russet red one of the new combinations. Some of the most effective gowns are in neutral shades, that, seen in the piece, do not commend themselves to most people. Rubens collars are very much worn on matinees and negligees. They are gener-ully made with a narrow hem, edged with lace or fine embroidery. Most of the new French skirts are gracefully shaped and made without foundations. They are simply silk-lined and have a pleating of silk inside the hem. "Brutus brown" is a sort of tan shade well worn, and heliotrope, in combination with green or tan, is attempted by every stylish woman with a clear complexion.

It is of interest to watch the evolution of the sleeve. The shape to which it has now come is a quaint and curious pagoda form, gathered at the top and falling in a bell below the elbow.

The new dresses seem to be made for the most part very plain and close on the whooping cough, when the remedy is lips, with sloped or gored breadths widen-freely given. It completely controls the disease. Fifty cent bottles for sale by Power & Reynolds.

RETSOF MINING SALT CRMPANY'S

ROCK LUMP SALT FOR CATTLE

To FARMERS, STOCK-RAISERS and OTFIERS; is inotigenerally known that the use of common loose salt for cattle, horses, sheep and hogs, is injurious to them, but such, however, is the fact. Their nature requires only so much salt as will be absorbed by the saliva. By the ordinary method of salting, more or less of the loose salt is carried undissolved into the stomach, causing irritation to the membranes and coaling.

In many well authenticated instances the death of sheep, and attacks of colic and other difficulties in horses and cows have been traced to this cause. It is very desirable, therefore, that some method of salting stock be employed. The most suitable form of sait for this purpose is furuished by nature in the Rock or Mineral Salt, and the best possible method of supplying it to stock is to place lumps of it in the mangers and other places where it can be easily reached when required by them. It goes four times as far as common salt, and is cheaper at any reasonable price. Any stock will do 20 per cent, better by using our Rock Salt. They do not have that terrible thirsting for water caused by using common salt, which contains large quantities of lime and magnesia, our salt being the only salt known free from these impurities.

AN OLD DODGE.

Two Kentuckians Pay $900 for & Boz of Sawdust.

The "green goods" racket is an old bait, but it is very effective still in roping in "suckers."

The Louisville Times says two wellknown and influential citizens of Kentucky, who reside within fifty miles of that city, were recently caught by this swindle for the snug sum of $900. They deserve no sympathy. The Times says Both men are in comfortable circumstances and are engaged in a business which would readily enable them to dispose of counterfeit money. All the facts were communicated to Government Detective M. G. Bauer, who out of sympathy for the unfortunates, agreed not to give their names to the public.

"The story does not differ in the least from similar ones published from time to time. The two Kentuekians received circulars accompanied by sample twodollar bills. The samples were represented as counterfeit, though they were undoubtedly genuine Treasury notes. The circulars related that by coming to New York, $6,000 worth of such bills could be obtained for $900.

"The two victims packed their grips and hastened to New York. Hero the green goods swindlers were soon found, and more green bills shown as samples of the eounterfeit in which they dealt. To show how perfect the counterfeit was a bank was visited by the swindlers and victims and several of the bills exchanged for gold and silver. This satisfied the victims and they were eager to reach some retired place where the purchase could be made. When a suitable room was found, the $6,000 worth of money to be sold was carefully counted out, placed in a box and closely sealed. While 'the $900 was being paid over another box must have been substituted for the one containing the supposed bogus bills.

"The greedy Kentuckians, after getting possession of the coveted box, left the city as quickly as possible. At Philadelphia they determined to examine their treasure, when behold, as the box was opened it was found to contain nothing The man who takes the ad. out of the but sawdust. The two victims returned newspaper takes the add out of his cash to New York but, of course, could find no trace of the swindlers. Upon returning to Louisville one of the men came to Captain Bauer and asked what reward would be paid for eapturing counterfeiters. Though the man was well dressed Wednesday will be St. John's Day, and and bore every evidence of being a gentleman, Captain Bauer felt satisfied he had attempted to purchase counterfeit money. Captain Bauer flatly accused him and the visitor at first denied, but finally told the whole story. He begged so piteously for mercy that Captain Bauer finally consented not to give his name to the newspapers.

"The country is now being more completely flooded with green goods circulars REV. C. S. Lucas will leave to-morrow than ever before. In this instance the dollars, four cents in stamps, and were obliged to pay a few dollars for preparing the circulars. There are doubtless many

WAR CLOUD IN ASIA.

Trouble Between the French and Siamese Troops

BANKS OF MEKONG.

The Stamese Engaged in Ravaging the Territory Claimed by the French to lie Within Their Jurisdiction-Other Dispatches as Telegraphed from the Old World.

LONDON, June 22.—A dispatch from Calcutta states that war is threatened in Asia between the Erench and Siamese. The Amamites, who are tributary to France, have already come to blows with Siamese troops on the banks of the Mekong, and the Siamese are enga end in ravaging the territory claimed by the French to be within their jurisdiction,

Nothing has been heard of Pavie, the French officer, who, with a party of assistants, was engaged in adjusting the boundary line, and strong apprehension is felt that he may have fallen a victim to Siamese hostility. Should such be the case direct hostilities between France and Siam are more than probable, especially as the Siamese feel but the, especially as the Siamese feel but little disposed to make any concession. German and English influences are powerful in Siam, and the Germans hold valuable contracts that would be disastronely affected by war. The King of Sam, however, is believed to be desirons of peace, and has ordered his troops on the frontier to abstrain for the present from any aggressive course.

France Ignored by the Porte.

The French ambassador ant a preemptory demand for redress in tabalf of the Catholics, whose protector France claims to be. The porte, how-ever, ignores the French interference, acid is going about the investigation in a dehiberate way.

Guelph Party Sat Down On. BERLIN, June 22.—The kaiser put his foot down sternly against the Guelph party in Hanover, which has of late been assuming considerable boldness on account of the relationship of the kaiser to the house of Guelph through his mother and his presumed sympathy on that account. The kaiser, while avowedly proud of the Guelph connec-tion, and considering himself a member of that family, has given it to be under-stood that he will not tolerate any dispagement of Prussian supremacy in Disnover, and that any agitation among officials favorable to the Guelph movement must be sternly rapressed.

Preparing for the Kalser.

AMSTERDAM, June 22.—Great preparations are being made here for the recep-tion of Kaiser William, who will visit this city on his way to England. The Hollanders propose to show their friendthip for Germany in a way that the capital will witness the most brilliant spectacle it has seen in the century. Before starting for Amsterdam the kaster will be present at the launching of a new large ironeled at Wil-latenshaven, the latest addition to the imperial navy.

An Improved Koch Lymph Promised.

BERLIN, June 22. In the upper house Saturday Count Zedsitz maintained the smentific value of lymph as a therapeutic. He said also that the value would be greatly enhanced soon, when Koch had obtained the pure cultivation of the principal substance, which, Koch said, would be achieved in a few weeks. The composition would then be submitted to the scientific world.

Klug William's Monument.

BERLIN, June 22.—The new models of the great national monument to the late Kaiser William, which is to be erected in Berlin near the old Royal palace, or Schloss, will be exhibited in the Royal arsenal, Unter den Linden, in July. TRAIN HELD UP.

A Constante Attaches an Engine and Holds It Three Hours.

Pueblo, Colo., June 22.—A constable of the town of Eades, in Koiwa county, held up the Missouri Pacific express for three hours Saturday night. The salary of an employe of the road had been garnisheed by a citizen of Eades, but the company had neglected to settle, and the matter was placed in the hands of the constable.

When the express stopped at Eades Saturday night the constable boarded the cab of the engine and served papers attaching the same. Nearly three hours were spent in telegraphing the superindent of the road, who finally ordered the payment of the money demanded by the constable. A postal inspector was on the delayed train and it is likely that suit will be brought against the con-stable for intercepting the mails.
